Dag Heads UN Force Entering Katanga Area

By LYNN HEINZERLING
LEOPOLDVILLE, (The Congo AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld today led a flying UN task force of 220 Swedish troops in Elisabethville to arrange for replacement of Belgian troops policing rich Katanga Province.

Armed with a mandate of the Security Council to secure the withdrawal of Belgian soldiers from disputed Katanga, the secretary general took off within 10 hours after landing in Leopoldville from New York.

The armed Swedish troops went officially as an honor guard for Hammarskjöld. But in reality they are the first units of the U.N. force to replace the Belgian forces in the rich mining province.

Hammarskjöld led a flight of six troop-loaded planes chartered from the Congo airline for the 850-mile trip. Two supply planes that flew to Lubumbashi Thursday were to join up en route.

Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe, rebelling against the central Congo government of Premier Patrice Lumumba, promised a safe welcome for Hammarskjöld and his men.

The first Swedish troops were to remain on the Elisabethville airfield while Hammarskjöld had his initial conferences with the Katanga premier. Afterward they probably will be used to secure the airfield as the Belgian troops withdraw.

Other troops then will be flown to Elisabethville, and other units including probably some of the UN battalion will move in from Léopoldville.

Hammarskjöld flew into Leopoldville from New York Thursday night in a jet plane loaned him by President Eisenhower.

With demands for local autonomy and a weaker central government growing in the Leopoldville area as well as in Katanga and other provinces, Lumumba meanwhile was taking steps to strengthen his authority and check opposition.

Rifle-carrying Congolese police and soldiers are carrying out patrols in the central capital. They have been halting cars on the road to the airport even those of diplomats—and searching them for weapons.

Pilot Goes to New Record in Air, 131,000'

By RALPH DIGHTON
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The X15 today rocketed an Air Force test pilot more than 24 miles skyward, man's highest flight yet. The new record: 131,000 feet.

Major Robert M. White, in the same plane that set a world speed mark of 2,196 m.p.h. last week, pointed the sleek black Dart up at an angle of 51 degrees and let its mighty twin engines roar all out until its fuel was exhausted.

The four-minute burst vaulted him to the nearly airless edge of space, where he ached weightless for a few seconds before plummeting back.

At the peak of his climb, White radioed back: "This is really fantastic up here."

The old mark was 126,200 feet, nearly 24 miles, set by Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe here Sept. 7, 1955, in the ill fated X2 rocket ship. It later crashed while setting a speed mark of 2,094 m.p.h. Kincheloe was killed in a fighter plane crash.

Records by experimental planes are unofficial. The official mark is 103,395 feet, set by Cape Joe Jordan last Dec. 14 man F104C jet.

The X15 was dropped at 45,000 feet from a B52 mother ship. White ignited eight rocket barrels and within seconds soared out of range of ground observers with field glasses.

Minutes later the ship reappeared, a tiny dot in the vast expanse of desert sky, and came down in a spiral glide for a 200 m.p.h. landing on the hard mud surface of Rogers Dry Lake.

White's maximum speed today, compared with Walker's 2,196 m.p.h. last week, was 1,700 m.p.h. In setting his speed record, Walker climbed to 78,000 feet, then went into a shallow dive to become the fastest human.

White reserved all his power for the zooming climb.

1,500 Attending Legion Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some 1,500 veterans arrive today for the opening of the Arkansas American Legion convention.

Top speakers will be Martin B. McNeally, national Legion commander, Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) and H. Grady More, manager of the Little Rock Veterans Administration office. Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) also may appear.

C. Hamilton Moss, former Arkansas Power & Light Co. president, will receive an Americanism Award at a dinner tonight.

The convention runs through tomorrow.

McNeally drew fire last year when he ordered the 40 and 8 to withdraw a white-only membership regulation. The 40 and 8 left the national Legion instead.

The Arkansas 40 and 8, meeting yesterday, took no action on the membership rule. David C. Kneusel Jr. of Little Rock was named grand chet de gare (con-mander). He succeeds Dr. L. E. Stirling of Hot Springs.

In Rapid Order U.S. Chalks Up Series of Space Achievements

Space Capsule Brought Back Onto Earth

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting U.S. satellite was rushed toward Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule for the first success in 13 attempts — the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with the Soviet Union.

The 300-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was fished from the Pacific Ocean about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A little over three hours earlier, the Air Force triggered the ejection mechanism of its Discoverer XIII as it made its 17th pass over Alaska in polar orbit.

With steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course. Then crews of waiting C119 planes saw the chute, followed the capsule down and circled above the spot.

The Air Force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C119's, but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the MSTB ship Hult Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed hopes of space scientists working on both the man-in-space program and the Samsky spy satellite.

The Samsky is now being developed to send back by television what its camera eyes see as it scouts the face of the earth. But eventually it is hoped that actual films can be sent back to earth by capsule to provide much clearer pictures than television could furnish.

It was No. 13 of the Discoverer satellite series which brought luck to the Air Force. Some of the previous launchings had failed to put satellites into orbit. Some went into orbit but failed to eject the capsule or ejected it in the wrong direction.

Ike's Copter Lands on Field

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — A helicopter carrying President Eisenhower to his Camp David retreat for the weekend landed today on a baseball field in this little community near the camp.

Cloudy weather prevented Eisenhower from making a planned landing at Camp David. The President was met by a car and taken on the Caloclin Mountain retreat.

He left Washington after meeting with the National Security Council. He expects to return to Washington late Sunday.

Huntsville Co. to Get Contract

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — McCaBlen Truck Co., Inc., of Huntsville will get a new contract to haul surplus commodities barring any protests.

State Purchasing Agent Mack Sturgis said yesterday he would award the contract unless there were protests. McCaBlen was the only bidder for the second straight year.

Joe C. Hardin of Grady, one of five candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, attacked the McCaBlen contract during the campaign. Gov. Orval E. Faubus denied his charges.

Huge Balloon Is Launched Successfully

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States successfully rocketed into orbit today a gigantic balloon satellite intended to pave the way for a worldwide radio communications system.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A towering Thor-Delta rocket blasted skyward today in an attempt to place a giant balloon communications satellite into orbit as a reflector for radio signals and voice messages.

The 100-foot sphere, called Echo I, was designed to prove the feasibility of using satellites for worldwide telephone, radio and television systems.

Standing as tall as a 10-story building, the big ball would be the largest, but not the heaviest satellite ever sent aloft. It was aimed at a circular orbit 1,000 miles above the earth.

Also dubbed a sateloon, it would shine bright as a star and be clearly visible in areas over which it passed during hours of darkness. Strong optical aids would be needed to see it in the daytime.

The 92-foot Thor-Delta blasted off at 4:40 a. m. Eastern Standard Time. The aluminum-coated polyester balloon was folded accordion-fashion in a 26½-inch magnesium container-lucked in the rocket's nose.

Attempts early Tuesday and Wednesday to orbit the big balloon were postponed because of technical problems with the booster rocket. The first effort to launch an Echo satellite failed last May 13 because of a malfunction of small hollow jets designed to help control the flight of the Thor-Delta.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was to announce in about two hours whether the satellite inflated and was circling the earth.

Robber, 16, Captured by Hope Police

A 16-year-old hitehiker robbed a Dallas man and stole his car early last night near Texarkana and was apprehended some 20 minutes later by Hope Police.

The Hampton, Ark. youth was captured in the woods behind Hope High school and surrendered meekly after losing his .22 caliber pistol when he abandoned the car after wrecking it in a ditch at the end of 10th street.

Bill Merton, 32, salesman for the Owens Yacht Co. of Dallas, more, said he picked up the boy at Dallas. They stopped several places enroute including a Texarkana drive-in where Merton bought the boy a sandwich. When they started traveling again, the youth got a gun from his clothing, told Merton to place his money on the seat and get out of the car. Merton faced a truck to the quarantine station on Highway 67 and telephoned Texarkana police.

Hope police were immediately notified and met the 1955 Ford on South Elm. Officers chased him to 16th where he turned left, crossed Main and finally wrecked the car at the dead-end on 16th. He jumped and ran and was captured a short time later.

Officers taking part included Snyard, Clark and Willis of the Hope force; Ward, Pankov, Mosier and Porterfield of the State force.

He was released to Texarkana officers were charges of armed robbery and auto theft were filed against him.

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — When a small truck driven by his father started up at a traffic light Thursday, Richard Hudson, 4, toppled over the back and was run over by a following car. He died before arriving at Notre Dame Hospital.

Feats Appear to Give America Edge on Russia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In one-two-three order the United States has just chalked up a striking series of space achievements.

First came the recovery of a space capsule fired back to earth from an orbiting satellite — the first time in 13 tries. The 300-pound instrument-laden capsule carried by Discoverer XIII was snatched from the Pacific near Hawaii.

The feat appeared to have out-paced the United States' orbit over the Soviet Union in the race for space. It also buoyed hopes of scientists working on man-in-space and eye-in-sky programs.

This achievement was followed quickly by the successful orbiting of a huge balloon satellite, Echo I, designed to pave the way for a worldwide communications system.

Soon after launching, it demonstrated its success by bouncing back a message from President Eisenhower which was broadcast to it on its first sweep around the earth.

The balloon, as tall as a 10-story building, is the largest, but not the heaviest satellite sent aloft. It would be used to reflect radio beams.

Then a powerful Atlas missile was sent thundering 5,000 miles down the Caribbean range carrying a group of radiation study devices in a new and larger type nose cone.

The nose cone was sent back to earth after the missile attained an altitude of more than 700 miles.

Father, Son Killed by an Employee

ATLANTA, Tex. (AP)—A state employee said he killed a father and son in self defense yesterday after the elder man angrily accused him of malicious gossip.

Buckshot from a double-barreled shotgun killed Alex Combs, 49, Atlanta printer, and his son, Jerry, 15, in a street just a block from Atlanta's downtown square.

James A. Cobb, 50, who works for the state Highway Department, was jailed pending a hearing on a charge of murder.

Dist. Atty. Joe Lavelle said the prisoner told police Combs telephoned him and accused him of spreading gossip about Combs' private affairs.

Cobb said Combs threatened his life.

Charles Combs, 18, another son of the dead man, substantially confirmed Cobb's account of the trouble, Lavelle said, but denied Cobb's claim that Alex and Jerry Combs carried clubs.

The shooting took place at the front of the First Baptist Church in this city of 4,000. Cobb told the district attorney that Combs followed him as he left work and forced his car to the curb just before the shooting.

Prayer Room Plan Advanced

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Committee of laymen will go ahead with plans for a prayer room at the state Capitol, with the backing of representatives of several major religious denominations.

James T. Karam, Little Rock clothier heading the committee, said after a meeting yesterday he and his group hoped to establish similar rooms in other public institutions. A number of ministers attending the meeting favored the Capitol project.

Karam said Little Rock area firms have indicated they will paint and furnish the old store-room.

It will be primarily for legislators, but the planners agreed that others could use it, too.

Department Store Sales Decline

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reports that department stores in the eighth Federal Reserve District week ended Aug. 8 reported a six per cent decline of sales compared to those of the similar week of last year.

The biggest drop was registered in the Louisville area, 18 per cent. Little Rock was down 15 per cent. Memphis declined seven per cent. St. Louis fell one per cent, and sales in seven smaller districts slipped one per cent.

Sales for the four weeks ended Aug. 6 were also one per cent below the level of the like period of 1959.

Cumulative sales for the year to date were unchanged from the corresponding period of 1959.

Cone Packed Missile Goes 5,000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A powerful Atlas missile pumbed 5,000 miles down the Caribbean range today with a group of radiation study experiments packed in the nose cone.

The Air Force reported the big intercontinental-range rocket successfully achieved all flight test objectives in streaking to a pre-selected target zone off the Atlantic island of Ascension.

Air and ocean range vessels from the missile test center began a search for the 14-ton cone, which was eased to the water by a parachute that popped out after the re-entry body plunged back through the earth's atmosphere from an altitude of more than 700 miles.

This was the second rocket success here today. Three hours before the Atlas blasted off, U. S. scientists hurled a 100-foot balloon communications satellite into orbit and used it to bounce a message from President Eisenhower across the nation.

The Air Force emphasized the main purposes of the Atlas flight were to test the new cone and the missile's inertial guidance

Russia Expels Another American

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today expelled a young American YMCA tourist, accusing him of trying to enlist a Ukrainian in "anti-Soviet agitation" by giving him clothes, three Bibles and American publications.

The American was identified as James Schultz of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., a tour sponsored by the U. S. Young Men's Christian Assn.

An article in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda said that Schultz had "caused indignation among honest people and he is being expelled. He forgot the elementary rules of decency and politeness."

Schultz was the third American ordered out of the Soviet Union in as many days. On Wednesday Col. Edwin M. Kirlan, the U. S. Air Attache in the Soviet Capital, was accused of setting up a spy apparatus and told to go. Thursday Robert Christner, 27, a tourist from Sparks, Nev., was accused of taking spy photographs and expelled.

The American Embassy said it had no information on the Schultz case.

Komsomolskaya Pravda said that the incident happened in Kiev, the Ukrainian capital. It said Schultz found there "a racial ready-to-sell his honor for foreign rags."

It said that in return for "rags"—a reference to the fact that most tourists in the Soviet Union are bombarded with pleas to purchase their clothing—Schultz demanded that this person in Kiev "carry on anti-Soviet agitation."

Besides the clothing, the newspaper said, Schultz "immediately gave prepayment: three copies of the Bible, an American book of provocative material and an American magazine of the same nature."

All Escape Death in a Mine Blast

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—One man was hurt but seven others escaped injury when a powder car exploded inside a coal mine near here early today.

State Mines Director Crawford L. Wilson said all men were walking out of the mine. He said apparently the one injured man was not hurt seriously.

The explosion occurred three miles inside the mine.

Wilson received the report directly from the Amherst Coal Co. mine by telephone.

The powder car was of an enclosed type, Wilson said, but a fire resulted from the explosion, but that it was virtually extinguished.

The Logan County sheriff's office said earlier a deputy reported from the scene that eight men were known dead. First reports reaching Wilson said six were "unaccounted for."

The mine at Lindale, 16 miles south of here, is in the heart of southern West Virginia's rich bituminous fields. It was the scene, on Feb. 12, 1958, of a slate fall which killed five men.

The powder car was part of an early morning supply trip. There was no immediate indication what caused it to explode.

Lindale is not far from Holden, where 18 men died last March 8 after they were trapped by a fire deep inside No. 22 mine of the Island Creek Coal Co.

The U. S. customs duty on a foreign-made car is 8½ per cent of the vehicle's appraised value.

Congress May Be in Session in September

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Politics and the weather may keep the current post-convention meeting of Congress in session well into September.

While Labor Day—Sept. 5—is the adjournment target date set publicly by congressional leaders, their private estimates aren't as optimistic.

One thing is reasonably certain: If Congress doesn't adjourn by Labor Day, it could be in session a long time after that.

The Senate convened last Monday to start work on a backlog of measures left unfinished in July. The House won't convene until next Monday, but its members have been told they can stay away until Aug. 22, because there is no business on tap in the House for next week.

Labor Day target is to be hit in which Congress will have to dispose of a docket it couldn't complete in almost six months of pre-convention sessions.

House members are struggling back for next week's opening, basing their adjournment plans on mid-September or early October.

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, Democratic whip, said he doubted that Congress would adjourn before the middle of September.

Another top Democrat, who wouldn't permit identification because he publicly has been lost in the Labor Day adjournment date, said privately he would settle for Oct. 1.

"There is just too much work to be done," he said. "The little things can be handled in a hurry. It's the big things, like school construction, minimum wages, housing, medical aid, and farm legislation, that could slow us down."

Many of the "big things" have progressed to the point where they are near the final voting stage, but many of them still face a balky House Rules Committee which hasn't even scheduled a meeting for the current session.

From a purely political point of view, some congressional leaders don't seem to be concerned over a prolonged session.

"Where else can a candidate for national office get a bigger press audience than in Washington?" one of them asked. "Here, all you have to do is announce a press conference and several hundred reporters will show up and you have national coverage."

When you are out stumping, you have a smaller press and a smaller sounding board. And it's much more comfortable in the air-conditioned house of Congress than it is under the open sun on the campaign circuit. It's cheaper, too.

'Is Truth More Precious Than a Baby's Life?'

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

"Dear Helen: You published a letter from a young girl who was seeking advice as to whether she should return to work shortly after her coming marriage and then in a few weeks take time off for the first baby. You published an answer for this girl and for all others who would listen; that she and her new husband should go off and have their child and then come back to their jobs and their new home only after they have made all dates jibe. You then said that 'what people don't know won't hurt them.' Is this deep, live attitude typical of our age and has the spirit of truth now succumbed to lying and falsity?"

This is my first year in the seminary and I am desperately trying to face up to my own evil nature. When I hear others give false testimony and advising others to go on deceiving self and mankind, then I must speak up. I condemn no one. This I know: I have a ministry in this age of hatred and falsehood. I can no longer let myself live before others nor advocate that others should. I believe that to make a mistake and admit it is more holy than trying to bluff the world and say that one is unable to err or than to refuse to face up to one's self.

To the young couple who have already admitted that they are human and want to do right, to say keep going, keep meeting all of life's struggles with honesty and sincerity. I beg you to think and do what is best for your child, I stake my ministry and career on one course of action—that of total honesty to self and to neighbor. Anything less than speaking the truth will deny my ministry, my hope in a better world for our children, and of a forgiving God. Your children will be looking to you; please do not face life with a lie.—Everett Kennedy

Dear Mr. Kennedy: Would you make a Hester Prynne of this poor girl and pin a scarlet letter on her breast for truth's sake? Would you have her baby-branded all its life almost illegitimate for truth's sake? Then your idea of Christianity and mine are not the same. As a matter of fact truth is not involved for to remain silent is not to lie.

Your zeal is commendable but to be worthy of the ministry you should be a little more compassionate—especially where an unborn child who can't speak for itself is involved.

I would like to hear other readers' opinions on this question.

Dear Helen: I am 16 and have a very dull outlook on life. I spend Friday and Saturday nights at home with a book and the radio. Every day is spent in the same routine: get up, go to school, go to work, come home, do homework, go to bed. Nothing ever happens to me. I am a Christian and do not go in for petting. Some boys consider me a square. My girl friend's boy friend introduced me to two boys. I had a date with one. That is as far as it has gone. My future holds no happiness. My family and friends tell me I have a pleasing personality and am pretty. But that doesn't help any. Sometimes I wish I could die and end it all. If you think you can help me, I will gladly follow any advice you give.—Unhappy

Dear Unhappy: With all the beauty and wonderful things to see and do in this world, you're missing the boat. Snap out of this pessimism. Try forgetting self in making others happy. And don't fool yourself into believing that all boys date for the sole purpose of petting. The more intelligent ones by-pass girls who get over serious. Read my leaflet, "On Being Popular." It goes to you today.

Dear Helen: I have been going with the same boy, a Marine, three years, have been engaged to him two years. He has been overseas since a year last June and is coming home next month. We want to be married two weeks later but he is not quite 21 and his parents won't give consent. They say I am too young, inexperienced and don't know my own mind. Well, I am a high school grad and have been doing practical nursing for the past year. I am very fond of my fiancé's parents, even though the feeling is anything but mutual and don't want to hurt them by eloping. But I can't see waiting another three months (till he is 21). A prolonged engagement can end in trouble. I have counseled with my parents and pastor. They are all for our marriage. How can I persuade his parents to give their consent?

Dear J.: Any boy old enough to die for his country is old enough to marry. Your fiancé's folks are probably reluctant to let go of him, not realizing that he has grown up. Ask them what difference it can possibly make whether you and he marry in two weeks or three months from now. Remind them that some states in particular, and society in general, recognize 18 as coming of age for a girl.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of his newspaper.

Offers Bill to Carry Out GOP Pledge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to carry out the Republican party's platform pledge on civil rights was introduced today amid indications that parts of it may be offered as riders to the minimum wage or other measures.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), chief sponsor of the four-part civil rights bill, told newsmen no firm decision had yet been reached on the course to be pursued in trying to get action on the legislation.

But he said one possibility is that some of its provisions may be offered as amendments to other bills such as the bill of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, to boost the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour.

Javits said another alternative would be a motion to have the bill referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee with instructions that it be reported back to the Senate at a fixed date.

He said no effort will be made to have the measure placed directly on the Senate calendar—attempted by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen Tuesday in trying to force action on the two points in the civil rights bill urged by President Eisenhower.

Baptists Vote Budget Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas State Baptist Convention's 1961 budget will be $1,675,000, an increase of $25,000 over this year.

The budget will be presented to the annual convention meeting in Fayetteville in November.

It includes $603,000—36 per cent of the total—for Southern Baptist Convention institutions and agencies.

The Convention's executive board, which adopted the budget Monday, recommended that the Convention continue to support Southern Baptist College, a private institution at Walnut Ridge, but that it not accept the school as a convention institution at its time.

More Money for Park Near Meno

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Publicity and Parks Department has a $50,000 bid for further restoration of an inn at Queen Wilhelmina State Park near Meno.

The bid, by Cox Hubbard of Little Rock, was the lowest submitted yesterday for construction of a main dining room and office and unfinished rooms above them.

The inn was built in 1880 and named for the queen of Holland, but later was abandoned.

The state has 640 acres around for a park and already has spent $50,000 on reconstructing the inn.

The hurricane season in the Gulf of Mexico-Atlantic Ocean area runs from June 15 to Nov. 30.

Budget, $265,797, is for Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia.

MARCHMAN, Miss. (AP)—Two Negro prisoners were killed and 14 other convicts were hurt when a bolt of lightning hit an abandoned building at the state prison farm yesterday.

WHAT CAN ONE DO?
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Among the great preachers and outstanding Christian leaders of this century is the Rev. Raymond Calkins, now, healthily retired in his nineties, after a long pastorate in Cambridge, Mass.
Dr. Calkins has recently answered a question that must be uppermost in minds of individuals faced with a sense of frustration and even impotence in a world of tensely changing events and conditions, and incredibly powerful forces. Lost in the tension and immensity what can the individual do?

Dr. Calkins' answer is that man must be himself; that it is a fallacy that the individual can do nothing to alter the course of events; and that a good society can be produced only by good individuals.

The point is that the great opportunity lies before each of us of being one of those individuals.
As an incident of extremes meeting and of how much good men may have in common in spite of deep differences, it is interesting to see the Christian Calkins quoting the agnostic Bertrand Russell to the effect that:

"Never before has the independent thought and conscience of every human being been so necessary and important as it is today."

So, though the Christian may emphasize the rewards of the good life, it is good to know that here and now, even in this tense world, we can, as Dr. Calkins says:

"Set ourselves against despair and fatalism, against indifference, against hatred and all uncharitableness, and thus, together with a multitude doing the same thing, raise this world to better things."
Dr. Calkins enforces his words with a quotation from Pascal:
"The serene and silent beauty in this campaign."

Nixon Plans to Play Up Himself

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's presidential campaign is following a coolly deliberated line he worked out for himself months ago.
It can be summed up like this:
He's going to play up Nixon, not the Republican party.

As long ago as last April acquaintances — meaning people of a holy life is the most powerful influence in the world, next to the power of God."

(See) Horse Sense
Some people may have been a bit doubtful about a recent item of news from the world of science. It was to the effect that the familiar dolphin (sometimes called porpoise) is equal, perhaps superior, to man in brainpower.

However, aside from whatever tests the scientists may have conducted to arrive at this conclusion, a little thought will show it is not surprising. For zoology tells us that dolphins, like whales, are descendants of mammals which once lived on land. But a long time ago they decided they didn't like it and climbed back into the sea.

If man, with his intelligence, eventually succeeds in wiping out all life on land, it may be up to the dolphins to evolve out of the water again and start all over again. They're probably too smart to make that mistake, though.

Election Dust
Two new terms have popped up already in the presidential race — "low road" and "high road" — in reference to electioneering tartars. As far as the people are concerned, the only thing that matters is that nobody is "railroaded."

he talked to said he would try to run as an individual if he got the Republican nomination.
He got it. So what did he do?
A number of newsmen who made the trip to Hawaii with him last week, watching him "campaign and talking with him, reported:

The Republicans who trooped along with him wherever he went paraded the Republican banner.
Not Nixon.

He himself didn't talk about being a Republican. He will try to sell himself rather than the Republican brand of government or even the Eisenhower brand.

(Incidentally, that's just how drawing contrasts between his Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller and the governorship of New York in 1958. He didn't lie himself very tightly to the Eisenhower label.)

Last April those who talked with him said Nixon figured he couldn't win on the Republican vote alone because Democrats outnumber Republicans and that this was what he felt was necessary.

For his margin of victory he'd have to dip into that 20 per cent or so of voters who are called neither Democrats nor Republicans but independents.

The Hawaiian-trip newsmen reported his thinking on this:
While the winning votes must come from the independents only a handful of them are thinking voters who study the man and the issues and cast their ballots on the basis of intellectual convictions.

3. This majority is generally in-ple who seldom vote and who who have no deep convictions or continuing interest in government.

4. This majority is generally influenced by the candidate who talks last and loudest.

5. This is why President Truman beat New York's Gov.
Thomas E. Dewey in the 1948 elections.

All this is based on the assumption on Nixon's part that the majority of voters who don't vote a straight party ticket, no matter what the issues of the candidate — don't weigh the issues but make up their mind on loud talk.

If Nixon is wrong, he may wind up like Dewey.

At least two of the Hawaiian trip newsmen indicated Nixon's style is to over-simplify the issues because he thinks this race will resolve into a personality duel.

But at the same time, these newsmen reported Nixon doesn't think he can match Sen. John F.
Kennedy, the Democratic nominee in glamour or as a "natural smile."

How, then, could he ultimately Kennedy in personality?

One way would be to continue drawing contrasts between his own humble beginnings and the won the governorship of New York in 1958. He didn't lie himself very tightly to the Eisenhower
label.)

It will be interesting to watch how often Nixon tries that technique.
All the high hopes plans and techniques of both candidates may go up in smoke when they meet face to face in TV debates since the voters — millions of them — will be able to judge both men on the spot on both issues and personality.

Only A Symptom, Cause Lies Deeper

Just a few centuries ago it was believed that headaches were caused by little devils prodding the brain with forks. The treatment was centered around driving these little devils out. In this generation pain-killing drugs have lessened the effects of their work.
Yet very little factual evidence has been brought forth as to the actual cause of headaches.

By a Chiropractic examination the cause of headaches is found. Through Chiropractic Adjustment this cause is removed, resulting in complete recovery in most cases, even to the supposedly incurable migraine

"The barber looked him over with a chuckle. "Still remember Mac?" Brett said. "Same old Mac," Brett said with a chuckle. "Still remember the scissors was new to him. "Any room in the tub?" "You'll have to nump your own hair."

The original plant was built with federal participation under an agreement allowing the base to utilize revenue from gas production.

Viet Nam Is Calm, Rebels Report

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The military rebels who seized power in Laos announced in a delayed communique received in Saigon today that "the goal of the coup d'etat has been attained."

"The population has approved the movement and remained calm throughout the entire country," said the communique signed by paratrooper, Capt. Kong, L.C., the leader of the revolt.

The rebels said "all officers of various services and units of the armed forces" declared themselves ready to serve the country, religion, monarchy and constitution and cooperate with the revolutionary movement.

The rebels' 40-member executive committee will govern "on a temporary basis," the communique said, adding that the rebellion "was not promoted by any political group or party but rather to fulfill the people's desire."

"The movement has received no material or moral help from any foreign power whatsoever but was created thanks to the spirit of sacrifice of the committee itself," it said.

The rebel claim that all army officers were cooperating was contradicted by reports that high ranking officers were still loyal to the government of Premier Nao Samsonth and by an unconfirmed report that the minister of defense, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan,

More White Collar Jobs in Nation

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Hidden under the impressive figures of record employment and a one-month drop in the jobless total is a trend that's more than seasonal—more white-collar jobs, fewer blue-collar ones.

More precisely, there's a continuing rise in the number employed in the service industries and a drop in jobs for the production of goods.

The current drop in goods could be cyclical because of the downturn in manufacturing activity which many hope will be reversed in the fall. But it has longer-range implications.

Tied in with this are the official statistics showing that Americans spend a greater part of their income now for services and less for goods than they used to.

These statistics can be confusing unless the rise in prices, fares and rates is put into the scales with them, along with the present-day built-in need for services which many consumer goods carry with them and which don't show on the original price tags.

Employment figures for July, announced this week, show:

More than 62½ million Americans have jobs, a record and 10,000 more than in mid-June, a bit more than four million are out of work, almost half a million fewer than in June; teenagers who swelled the unemployment ranks in June when they sought summer jobs for them by mid-July and account for the employment rise; but 150,000 more persons over 20 were looking for work in July than in June.

And the Labor Department notes that employment showed gains in service industries while, falling in both durable and soft goods industries.

For several years employment has grown in the service industries—government, trade, finance, utilities, professions, where white-collar jobs abound. It has tended to drop in blue-collar jobs and in goods.

This doesn't mean as it might seem that people are buying fewer goods, except for brief recessions. A large part of the increase for years is from increased manufacturing efficiency and not from added labor and increased machinery and methods that turn out more goods for the same amount of labor going into production.

More means are spending for services, increased means for services, and widely accepted. But most of the percentage gain is illusory.

The bare figures show that services took 31.4 per cent of the consumer dollar in 1959 and 32.1 per cent in 1960.

Tourist Is Expelled by Russians

MOSCOW (AP)—A 27-year-old tourist from Sparks, Nev., was ordered expelled from the Soviet Union on charges of espionage today. He denied the charges.

"I don't know why they picked on me," he told a news conference. "I am quite upset. I don't know what the reasons are. I have been taking pictures everywhere, just like any other tourist."

He also acknowledged making notes in connection with his photos, largely taken of railroad depots and railway equipment, but added:

"I generally did this openly and in the presence of my tourist guide."

He said he took the railway pictures to help him with a master's thesis he is writing on railroading in the Soviet Union.

First word of his expulsion was sent to the U.S. Embassy today.

British, Germans in Agreement

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer reported "full agreement on their broad objectives" today and called for a round of discussions aimed at resolving the European trade rift.

Adenauer's press chief, Felix von Eckhardt, told a news conference one of the major results of the two days of talks here was an agreement that European trade difficulties must be dealt with "in the framework of the world political situation."

Macmillan had warned that the difficulties between the British-led seven-nation Free Trade Assn. and the six-nation Common Market, led by West Germany and France, could result in political division of Europe.

Von Eckhardt said the other major result of talks was that the two agreed to report back to their respective trade groupings in an effort to work for an early settlement.

The Macmillan-Adenauer talks came less than two weeks after discussions between Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Wants State Rid of Its Complexes

DE WITT, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval B. Faubus and O. Hamilton Moses of Little Rock yesterday urged Arkansians to shake off their inferiority complex.

Faubus and Moses, retired board chairman of Arkansas Power and Light Co., spoke in connection with the dedication of the $400,000 De Witt Shoe Corp. plant.

"Much criticism has tended to give us an inferiority complex," Moses said.

"Forget it. March militantly down the road of progress and let your great state take its place in the sun."

Faubus said "There's been an attitude for too long in this state that someone else is an expert and knows more than we do."

"But there are no better people in the world than Arkansians," he said. "People who see and know what needs to be done and set their wills to do it."

The shoe plant, which manufactures children's shoes for Sears, Roebuck and Co., employs 250 now and plans to expand to 450.
